Jamaica Plain

Dedication

With the retirement in June of Anne C. Donlan, Jamaica Plain High School lost not only a gracious colleague, charming friend, and, of course, hostess par excellence, but also a master teacher of myriad capacities, boundless enthusiasm, and vigorous scholarship. Former pupils are quick to pay tribute to the remarkable combination of the cultural and the practical in her teaching of English.

It is especially fitting that our 1959 Yearbook be dedicated to Miss Donlan. During the last nineteen years the excellence of her organization and production of Yearbooks has been recognized by periodic awards from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. This Yearbook is, and every Yearbook that follows must be, the heir of her invention.

Administration

To the Class of 1959 I offer my sincere congratulations. When you receive your diplomas in June you will have reached a major milestone in your life. Whatever your chosen field of endeavor will be, remember that success will come only by diligence, perseverance, and honesty. Your school days have given you merely a glimpse of the treasury of knowledge which is available to you if you will but reach out and grasp it. That means constant application on your part. This school has shown you the way to continue along this path if you wish to be a success in life. The opportunities open to those ready to take advantage of them have never been more numerous than they are now. All of us at the school will be interested in your careers. Call upon us for any advice or assistance we can give you.

We are dedicating this Yearbook to Miss Anne C. Donlan, who was responsible for editing and preparing the first nineteen editions of our Yearbook. We will always remember her for the great influence she exerted on the pupils in this school, and to her we extend the hope that she will enjoy many years of health and happiness.

Class History

Being duly proud and not unduly vain, we shall say that Jamaica Plain High School is losing an invaluable asset, the Senior Class.

During the past year, especially, we have given our all, our every waking moment, to provide examples for the emulation of our inferior counterparts, namely, the juniors, the sophomores, and the minute freshmen.

Did we not sense a feeling of actual friendship with the teachers this year? It's too bad that it has taken us this long to find out they are not really ogres with electronic brains, but real people.

Who could forget the look of bewilderment on our faces when into J. P. we wandered three years ago, the immigrants from all the grammar schools of Boston, or the look of awe when we saw those towering upperclassmen and those mammoth desks that actually opened from the top? How about the confusion over A-B-C schedules, first and second lunch, homeroom periods, and top secret codework HEdG23b, E34/1, F4157 put on our cards by those poor hardworking members of the Program Committee? Surely you remember that as soon as we assimilated that highly complex system--school was dismissed for the year.

We were amazed when we came back three months later, tanned, two inches taller, ten pounds heavier, and saw those sparse grey hairs appearing on the heads of our beloved teachers and discovered that we actually remembered something about school procedure. This was it! We're juniors! Juniors we were.

But soon we realized that time really does zoom for those in school. It wasn't only the teachers who had grey hair. We, now exalted Seniors, were getting old.

The marks of our new maturity? Those wrinkles of knowledge on our brows are well deserved and hard-earned. The twinkle in our eyes is a reflection of the fun we had at the talent show. That roll of fat around our midsection, can we attribute that to those experts of cuisine? Don't those rippling muscles, thanks to phys. ed., look good? How does our articulate "E-8" speech sound? Any minor aches and pains acquired through studying are promptly squelched by our cheerful nurse. Yes, truly, the Senior Class is a well-rounded and highly trained group.

During this year we have seen and taken part in many new clubs which provide for every imaginable interest: the Chemistry Club, under the auspices of "Atomic John Best," the Ski Club, the Camera Club. Christmas took a turn for the better this year at J. P. with the cool parties and "Santa Claus Burke." Then, too, students had a chance to exercise their vocal cords with the organization of the "Thursday Morning Music Festivals." Of course, even though we participated in these numerous activities, we still crammed for our studies; and after we had passed the first three marking periods, we contentedly sat back to rest on our laurels. We were quickly evicted from this position, however, by the thought of the happiest event of our school life--the Senior Promenade. The entire school was electrified by the thought. The last real party of our youth, and oh what a night! Who will ever forget the first dance and all the dances leading up to the Grand March? Who will forget the sparkling eyes of the beautifully clad belles and the multicolor-tuxed beaux, and the fun we had afterwards laughing and joking over our exquisite dinner?

Are there sentimentalists among us who would leave school with heavy foot and heart? You bet there are. We take with us a part of the school. (For the destructive among us, this may be taken literally.) But we leave our spirit and exuberance echoing throughout the halls.

And, more seriously, shall we not take a vow, on this our Yearbook, gratefully to remember our teachers? It is they who have escorted us, sometimes painfully but always humanely, from the realm of immaturity into our increasingly adult world of understanding, knowledge, and compassion.

SEE YOU AT THE POLLS

Class Will

We, the class of 1959, having been declared of leaky mind and unseaworthy body and about to leave on our most crucial voyage, do hereby disperse our so-called possessions in the following manner.

To Mr. Casey, we leave our gratitude and appreciation for a memorable senior year.

To Mrs. Gleekman, an electronically run office, of course.

To Miss Mullin and Miss Kenney, we leave both a private business concern and a private college to provide for all their anxious charges.

We leave to Mrs. Hurley more cots for the health room. (To accommodate the overflow on test day.)

To Mr. McGuckian, more boosters than buttons.

To Miss Hubbard, we leave a portfolio of 2,000 styles of Secretarial Reports.

To Miss Driscoll, a pipe line to Dior's of Paris.

We leave to Miss Forte that new art technique--self-painting sponges.

To Miss Kelley, we leave as hors d'oeuvres for her pre-luncheon Biology class: cocoanut-covered cocoons, chocolate-covered ants, and candied frogs.

We leave to Mr. Landrigan all the new history tests given at Memorial in the last decade.

To Miss O'Connell, a large economy-size can of 3-in-1 oil and an uncrushable door check in the person of a thin freshman.

To Mr. Donaghy, we leave the hope that some day powdered milk may be abolished.

We leave an asbestos jacket to Mr. Duffy to prevent his toasting himself over his insensitive Bunsen burner.

To stop the disappearance of saucers, spoons, and spukies in the lunchroom, we leave to Mr. Sullivan a crew of Pinkerton's finest.

To Mr. Mealy, a world free of all multiple-choice and true-false tests.

To assist the Clarion staff in any uncreative moments we leave to Mr. Brickley a set of ghost writers, prepaid, for prose or poetry.

To Miss Hennessey, we leave a neon-lighted sign, "THINK!!"

To assist her after the first Clarion payment, we leave to Miss Margaret Maguire a squad of armed guards!

To consolidate all his loose papers, we leave to Mr. Bond a life-time supply of "Hold-Fast" clothespins.

To Miss Russell, we leave not only Arthur and Catherine, but a whole truck load of mambo, samba, and tango records.

To Miss Buckley, we leave a library full of pupils who know where to find what they're looking for.

We leave twin pianos for Miss Marie Maguire and Mr. Buck!

To Mr. Dugan, we leave cahagj--presquoto---throgaj-pffft!!!
(How about that!?)

To Mr. Crowley, a coffee plantation.

To Mr. O'Leary, we leave seedless pomegranates--to conserve the U. S. apple supply.

To Mr. Best, we leave Big Ben's little brother--for the nine o'clock chaos.

To Miss Howe, we leave a new Yearbook staff as industrious, diligent, scholarly, intelligent, enthusiastic, witty, talented, and of course as modest as we!

To Colonel Murphy, we leave a secret weapon to "emulsify" all football opposition.

To Miss O'Malley, we leave corridor to corridor carpeting (for silent passing)!

To the Underclassmen, we leave the benediction: "Goodbye and Good Luck!"

For the Custodians--we leave!!

We of the class of 1959 have on this day of May in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-nine, duly published and declared this foregoing instrument to be our last will and testament.

Prologue

It is the merry VICTORY
That rides the merry wave;
With a twist of her tail and a toss of her sail
She cleaves the bonny wave!
A better ship could never be
More stout, more debonair than she,
And few so blithely brave.
And all and again of her company
(We are her jolly company)
Aye love the free and wind-swept sea.
Skim along, skim along joyously
With a song, born along by a belting breeze,
And hearts as high as the sun in his noon,
With a salt draft swishing about our knees.

Oh caroling, caroling heartily,
We've steered as straight as a gum-chewer's fate
Smack through the Archways of Awe,
Where the cupping blue is spangled through
With a brilliance of Physical law.
We've skirted the shores of a + b
And docked for a while in Geometry,
(Old G. which ne'er a town outweighs
In over-D's and under-A's).
By the banks of Valence we all sat down
And wept, yea wept a goodly round.
The ship tacked to; the wind blew free.
(We hardly smelled Biology)
And on and around Trigonometry,
Which wise ships clear most carefully.
'S blood we almost ran aground
On Shakespeare's Point and Milton's Sound!
Then past the gently winding Bay
Where the slippery fish of History play.

Oh skim along, skim along VICTORY
With sails held high and a merry crew
A laughing at the tiller and a whistling with the wind
With the ocean for a father and the sea-moon for a lady friend.

Oh rare is the ocean, our sheen green sea,
And rare is the lady moon dancing there to lee.
But ten times rarer is the VICTORY!

"Take an Older Sister's Advice..."

"IT'S SMART to line up job interviews well in advance of graduation. And one of the best places I know to contact is the Telephone Company. Several of us from my graduating class are working here — and every one of us loves it."

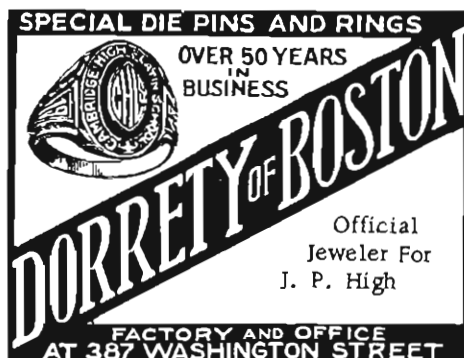

Telephone jobs are important ones. We have our own training program which you can enter without any previous job experience. The pay is good, and you'll get regular raises.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate. Ask the Guidance Counselor at your school to tell you when and where to apply.
